OUTDOORS

IS WHERE IT'S AT

From festivals and concerts to parades and markets, residents and visitors alike enjoy many of Gaithersburg's popular events and activities in lush parks, in open-air tents, along City streets, or underneath the stars all year long.

As spring approaches, thoughts turn to festivals, parades and markets. March brings out the Irish in everyone with the popular St. Patrick's Day Parade at Washingtonian Center. Celtic dancers, bagpipe bands, fire trucks, and more delight thousands who don their green for this family event. Four-legged family members get their own special day with the annual Paws in the Park Dog Walk and Festival each April, a fun-filled afternoon that features walks, games and a "flea-less" market.

Spring also marks the arrival of one of the City's fastest growing events, the Gaithersburg Book Festival. Literary enthusiasts fill the grounds of City Hall in May, meandering from tent to tent enjoying readings and presentations, live music, and meet & greets with their favorite authors during this annual celebration of the written word.

As the weather warms, outdoor markets pop up across the City with healthy, fresh produce, local crafts and hand-made items, flea market bargains, and more. The Main Street Farmers' Market in the Kentlands features local artisans and handcrafted items amongst its offerings of fresh grown veggies and fruits, herbs, baked goods, meats, jams, and jellies. At the Fulks Corner Farmers' Market, located in Olde Towne, you'll find delicious specialty items like cider, fruit butters and applesauce, along with the produce.

Once a month from May to October, the City Hall parking lot turns into a lively street bazaar with the Olde Towne Market, where you can shop, eat, and bargain hunt to your heart's content. Unique shopping opportunities don't end there. You'll find great deals on gently-used and new baby and household items at the City's Baby Bazaars and Flea Markets, taking place at the Montgomery County Agricultural Center, outdoors during the seasonal months and indoors when the weather turns colder.

Music fills the air with the arrival of summer as the City Hall Concert Pavilion comes to life with the Gaithersburg Outdoors entertainment series. Experience uplifting gospel music with choirs, choruses, dancers, and singers at Jubilation Day in June. Dancing children, melting ice cream, and lively music

GREEN Gaithersburg

Throughout its history the City and its leaders have held dear the notion that a healthy community must respect and protect the environment. Not only is there a lot of open space and parkland in Gaithersburg, through policy, regulation, education, and creative partnership, the City has adopted a number of initiatives designed to ensure the protection of our community for future generations.

- The City has enacted rigorous green building requirements for both residential and commercial development.
- Gaithersburg offers single stream recycling, which eliminates the need for residents to separate materials, making recycling easy and efficient. Both 18 gallon bins and 65 gallon wheeled recycling carts are available to residents.
- Rainscapes Rewards provide residents with educational resources and financial incentives for natural drainage projects, including the use of rain barrels and conservation landscaping techniques.
- In partnership with the Izaak Walton League, we piloted a program to eradicate invasive plants by using herds of hungry, grazing goats.
- The City's trucks, buses and other heavy equipment use biodiesel fuel, primarily made up of soybean oil.
- Gaithersburg monitors and maintains over 24 miles of streams and more than 400 stormwater management facilities. We work in partnership with others to implement stream restoration and stormwater management retrofit projects.

- Both of the City's Youth Centers feature geothermal heating and air conditioning systems and other unique environmental features, earning them Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) designation from the U.S. Green Building Council. In fact, the Youth Center in Olde Towne achieved LEED Platinum certification, making it the first youth center in the country and the fourth building in Maryland to achieve this highest possible rating.
- In the "Team Up to Green Up" program, volunteers partner with the City to adopt parks and streams. Partners receive supplies and support from the City for activities that include trash removal, tree planting and invasive species eradication.

Grazing goats help to eradicate invasive plant species in Gaithersburg.

Gaithersburg's environmental stewardship is governed by a philosophy that we are all stakeholders in our planet's health, and it is incumbent upon each and every one of us to play the role of protector both in word and in deed. Learn more about our initiatives and explore how you can join our efforts at www.gaithersburgmd.gov/environment.

The City's Rainscapes Rewards program offers rebates for rain barrel purchases.

ADVENTURES in Gaithersburg and Beyond

With an official color of green, the logo of an oak tree, and designation as a Tree City USA for 23 straight years, it should come as no surprise that we embrace the outdoors in Gaithersburg. In fact, you'll find 853 acres of parkland in 25 different parks all within our City limits and many wonderful outdoor recreational opportunities not too far away. Grab your fishing pole, kayak, bike, or hiking shoes and discover all the natural treasures right in your own backyard.

Bohrer Park at Summit Hall Farm is one of the largest City parks, with more than 57 acres of open fields and recreational areas, and is perfect for walking, jogging, or just enjoying a leisurely picnic. On a typical day you'll see pickup soccer games in full swing, families enjoying the picnic pavilions and playground, and fishermen waiting patiently for a bite at the two fishing ponds. You'll also find swimmers and sunbathers cooling off at the seasonal Water Park, skate boarders showing off their latest tricks at the Skate Park, and families and friends putting around the Miniature Golf Course.

Home to Clopper Lake, the Gaithersburg Winter Lights Festival, and 6,300 acres of parkland, Seneca Creek State Park extends along 14 picturesque miles of Seneca Creek as it winds its way to the Potomac River. The Day-Use Area just off Clopper Road is the perfect starting point for mountain biking, trail hiking, fishing, and boating. Stocked with bass, catfish, sunfish, tiger muskie, and bluegill, the 90-acre lake is an ideal fishing and boating destination. If you're feeling adventurous, you can hike the entire course of Great Seneca Creek on the 16.5-mile Greenway Trail.

For a history lesson, take a look into what 19th century life was like along the self-guided Woodlands trail, visit a restored 19th century schoolhouse, and check out the partially restored Black Rock Mill. You can also cross-country ski, hunt, or play a round of disc golf on a 27-hole course. And don't miss remnants of the Schwartz peony gardens, the City's official flower, in full bloom from mid-May through June.

Just outside the City, the 2,000-acre Black Hills Regional Park boasts picnic shelters, playgrounds, volleyball courts, trails, a fishing pier, and stunning views of Little Seneca Lake. Bring your own boat, rent one, or hop on the park's "Osprey" pontoon tour boat. And don't forget your fishing rod. The fish are plentiful in this 505-acre lake. Whether by foot, horseback, or mountain bike, explore the miles of trails through the park's forest.

Life's more than a picnic at Rock Creek Regional Park, just a few miles to our southeast. Covering 1,800 acres, you can spend the day fishing, boating, hiking, and viewing the resident wildlife along 13 miles of trails through woodlands and along the shores of Lakes Needwood and Frank. Fly through the treetops 40 feet above ground, if you dare, on an adventure course featuring zip lines, swings, rope ladders, and trapezes. You can also visit a nature center, try your hand at archery, or play a round of golf.

Lots of NEWCOMERS will Soon Come Home to Gaithersburg

Work is nearing completion on Archstone Gaithersburg Station in Olde Towne.

One of the things that makes Gaithersburg such a highly livable community is the variety of housing options. You'll find historic single family homes built before the turn of the 20th century alongside brand new apartments and townhouses with urban amenities and everything in between. And with so much new development now underway, thousands of newcomers will soon be coming home to Gaithersburg. Here's what's being built.

Construction of the infrastructure for roadways and utilities for the first two of six neighborhoods at Crown, just off of I-370, is nearing completion. Buildings will start going up soon. These two neighborhoods include more than 1,200 residential units in a variety of apartments, condominiums, townhouses and single family homes, along with 300,000 square feet of commercial space. The entire development will take several years to build out.

Olde Towne is home to two new upscale apartment complexes, both within walking distance of the MARC train station. Archstone Gaithersburg Station includes over 380 apart-

GAITHERSBURG

In the Middle of it All

Commuter and freight trains pass through town with regularity.

Look on a map of Montgomery County and you'll find Gaithersburg pretty close to the middle. Long thought of as an "upcounty" community, it no longer feels that way with the advent of so much development between Gaithersburg and Frederick. As the crow flies, it's just 13 miles from Gaithersburg to north-west DC.

But since we're not crows, we've got to navigate the metropolitan traffic scene somehow. Live, work and play right here in Gaithersburg and all your traffic woes will disappear. If that's not an option, there are plenty of ways to get where you need to go.

SUBWAY

Gaithersburg is at the north-western end of Metro's Red Line, with the Shady Grove Metro Station accessible by I-370 and Shady Grove Road.

BUS

Regional Metrobuses and county-operated RideOn buses serve Gaithersburg and connect with the Metrorail at the Shady Grove Station. You can also catch the InterCounty Connector (ICC) bus, running hourly between Gaithersburg and BWI Airport along the ICC. The planned Corridor Cities Transitway, or CCT, is proposed to be a bus rapid transit system connecting commuters with stops between the Shady Grove Metro station and Clarksburg, much of it to the west of I-270.

TRAIN

Maryland Association of Rail Commuters (MARC) passenger trains stop at the Gaithersburg Train Station in Olde Towne, Metropolitan Grove on the west side of I-270, and at nearby Washington Grove, connecting Gaithersburg with downtown Washington, DC and the region's most western suburbs. Parking at these stops is free, although there is very limited parking at the Washington Grove station.

are the norm during weekday kid's performances. As dusk approaches, grab a blanket and some popcorn as the City brings family-favorite movies outdoors and under the stars to local neighborhood parks. Weekend evenings beckon with tribute bands and Family Fun Nights, a great way to wind down the work week.

A tradition since 1938, summer unofficially comes to a close with the annual Labor Day Parade. Marching bands, costumed characters, fire engines, clowns, and more wind their way through Olde Towne as young and young at heart come out for this quintessential community event.

Nothing says fall like a festival. For over 30 years, residents and visitors have come together for the annual Celebrate Gaithersburg in Olde Towne street festival. With headlining music acts, delicious food, arts, and amusements it's no wonder thousands join in every year to celebrate all that is great about Gaithersburg. And the festivities don't end there. Authentic Bavarian food and beer and the sounds of German music lure festival goers every fall to Oktoberfest at the Kentlands, which also features horse-drawn wagon rides, pumpkin painting and children's activities.

As the air gets crisper and the trees get more bare, the City gets brighter with the annual Winter Lights Festival at Seneca Creek State Park, featuring over 380 illuminated vignettes and 65 animated displays. This 3.5 mile drive-through light show also invites visitors to experience the lights during a 5K Run/Walk, a dog walk, and trolley rides ending in yummy s'more making. The City rings in the holiday season with Jingle Jubilee, getting you into the holiday spirit with hot cocoa and sing-alongs while you witness a magical tree lighting at City Hall.

ments and 18,000 square feet of retail space. The first apartments will begin renting in the summer of 2012. At the intersection of Girard Street and Goshen Road you'll find the 300-unit Hidden Creek Apartment Homes, which will also begin leasing soon.

The Watkins Mill Town Center/Parklands development to the west of I-270 is a multi-year project being built in phases. The Parklands project includes over 400 residential units in a combination of single-family detached homes, single-family attached and two-over-two stacked townhouses, over 30% of which are completed and occupied. The Town Center portion of the project, with retail and commercial use, will come later.

Spectrum at Watkins Mill to the east of I-270 is envisioned as a 40-acre mixed use urban village, combining restaurants, retail and commercial uses with lively public spaces and residential living, all with convenient access to transportation. Construction of the infrastructure is underway and the builder will soon be breaking ground for 224 apartment units and ground floor retail.

Also under construction is Summit Hall Reserve. Backing up to the wide open spaces of Bohrer Park at Summit Hall Farm, this complex, next to the recently built 315 multi-family unit project, Highland Square, will feature a combination of 81 townhomes and two-over-twos.

The stacked condominium townhouse phase of The Vistas at Orchard Ridge Drive is completed. The overall development includes 13 single-family detached houses, 38 townhouses, and 32 multi-family condominium units. Six of the single family units are completed and some of the townhouses have begun.

And there's more coming. The "City Projects" button on the homepage of the City's website leads you to background information and updates on many of these projects. Visit www.gaithersburgmd.gov or call our Planning and Code Administration at 301-258-6330 to learn more.
